KEMAL TO MEET GENERAL HARRINGTON.

Atlantic Flotilla En Route.

GREECE INVOKES AID OF VENIZELLOS.

(Reuter's Service.)

Constantinople, September 29.
Replying to General Harrington's telegram mentioned in a message of the 28th inst., Mustafa Kemal declares that his troops will not advance further. He desires that no incident shall occur, and will seize the earliest opportunity of meeting General Harrington. [A message of the 28th inst. stated: General Harrington, in a conciliatory reply to Kemal Pasha, thanks him for his declaration to respect the neutrality of the Straits and his desire to avoid incidents, and points out that the destruction and building of roads was carried out as a military necessity. He assures Kemal Pasha that no shot will be fired except by his General Harrington's orders, and expresses readiness to meet Kemal Pasha anywhere that is convenient to discuss an understanding.]

Naval Reinforcements on the Way.

Gibraltar, September 29.

The flotilla leader and eight destroyers of the first flotilla of the Atlantic Fleet have arrived en route to the Near East, also two submarines.

Full Support from Australia.

Melbourne, September 27.

Speaking in the House of Representatives, Mr. Hughes said that Australia was praying that there would not be war, but if it came Britain would be in the right, even if left alone. Australia had previously put in the field a larger army than the Turks could now muster, and would do the same again if necessary.

Venizelos to Represent Greece at Conference?

The Revolutionary Committee has telegraphed to M. Venizelos at Paris asking him to undertake the defence of Greek interests with the Entente and to represent Greece at the Near East conference.

The Committee demanded the immediate departure from Greece of ex-King Constantine, ex-Queen Sophie, and the Princes Nicholas and Andrew. It is understood that they departed aboard a battleship last night.

The Committee has forbidden demonstrations in the streets. It is announced that the revolution has not been accompanied by a single drop of bloodshed. Several Royalist officers arrested at the outbreak of the revolution have been released, and all political prisoners have been liberated. The elements which long terrorised the city under the Constantinian regime have mysteriously disappeared. It is rumoured that ex-Premier, Gounaris, Stratos, and Protopapadakis have been arrested. Many politicians believe that the reign of the new King will not be a long one, and that a republic is likely.

Greece Talking of Retrieving Disaster.

Later.

The revolutionary leaders, in a statement, insist that the movement is absolutely national, and is exclusively aimed at reparation of the recent catastrophe and the creation of a strong army to save Thrace. They declare that the settlement of the dynastic question must conform to the will of the great majority of the Greek people.

High Commissioners Despatch Pacifying Delegates.

Constantinople, September 29.

The High Commissioners have decided to despatch a commission composed of British, French and Italian officers to Rodosto, Lule Burgas, and Adrianople to exercise a pacifying influence.

Arrest of Greek Premiers Confirmed.

Paris, September 29.

A message from Athens confirms the arrest of the three ex-Premiers, M. Theotokis and Rear-Admiral Goudas have also been arrested. The message adds that it is expected they will be brought to trial as responsible for the events in Asia Minor.

Cabinet Regards Kemalist Action as Infringement.

London, September 29.

At the conclusion of a further series of Cabinet meetings anxiety in official circles was in nowise eased. It is understood that the Government regard the Turkish action as an infringement of the Allied Note, and decided that it is impossible to permit the Kemalists to remain and reconnoitre positions in the neutral zone. The Government has therefore informed the military authorities that they have complete support in demanding the withdrawal of the Kemalists, leaving the question of a time-limit to the discretion of General Harrington, Admiral Brock, and the High Commissioner. Meantime the members of the Cabinet are standing by ready for emergencies, and are expecting an early development.

Rumour of War Causes Slump.

London, September 29.

The nervousness created by the Near Eastern situation is exemplified by the slump on the Liverpool cotton market to-day owing to a baseless rumour that Britain had declared war on Turkey, concerning which an authoritative denial was subsequently issued.

LANCASHIRE COTTON TRADE DEPRESSION.

Companies Gradually Losing Their Capital.

London, September 29.

The question of the continued severe depression in the Lancashire cotton trade was discussed at a Manchester meeting of representatives of over fifty per cent. of the spinning companies. Leading spinners pointed out that most concerns were gradually losing their capital, and only immediate and drastic action would avert a financial crisis. An enquiry into the question of fixing minimum prices for standard counts of yarn was suggested, also the curtailment of production.

LEAGUE OF NATIONS FINANCES.

An Unsatisfactory Position.

Geneva, September 29.

The report of the Fourth Commission shows that the League of Nations is financially straitened, owing to the non-payment of contributions totalling $400,000 and francs for 1921 and the payment so far made for 1922.

SUN YAT-SEN'S REPLY.

Authenticity of "Telegraph" Letters Admitted.

Alliance with Germany and Russia Intended.

Denial of Bolshevism.

(Our Own Correspondent.)

Shanghai, September 29.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen admits the veracity of the "Hongkong Telegraph's" disclosures relative to the proposal to form an Alliance with Germany and Russia.

He says, however, that the letters have been improperly translated and are partly false. He defended himself on the ground that all the Powers except Germany and Russia continued to be aggressive. He cites the relinquishment of extra-territoriality as proof that Germany and Russia have shown a favourable attitude towards China.

China's Desire for Equality.

Dr. Sun Yat-sen says that the creation of the Soviet Government had removed China's greatest political menace, so long as the Soviet Government continues its non-imperialistic policy. He says that China's greatest need is assistance from Powers which will treat China as an equal, and believes that Germany and Russia are the only Powers qualified to treat China in that manner. He therefore favours a conciliatory attitude towards Germany and Russia.

According to Dr. Sun, such a policy will not injure any of the other Powers which honestly desire a re-united China. He states that these are his main considerations.

Bolshevism Unsuitable to China.

Dr. Sun says that epithets accusing him of Bolshevistic views do not injure him and will not deter him. He denies that he has any sympathy with Bolshevism as a principle and says that a correct reading of his letters will prove this beyond doubt. He also says that he may issue an English translation of the letters reproduced in the "Hongkong Telegraph". He asserts that the "Hongkong Telegraph's" insinuation that the letters reveal a leaning towards Bolshevism is a charge unworthy of an answer, as all intelligent minds will realise that China is politically and economically unsuited to Bolshevism. Dr. Sun says that he never once dreamed of transforming China into a Bolshevik Republic.

Fruitless Overtures to Foreign Capitalists.

In conclusion, the late "President" of the South says that he had made repeated overtures to American, British and other foreign capitalists with a view to arousing their interest in the commercial development of China, but all were lost to his suggestions. Hence, he says, he had to turn elsewhere for much-needed co-operation.

SIKI'S VICTORY.

Paris, September 29.
The French Boxing Federation has endorsed the judges in the Carpenter-Siki fight and approved Siki's light-heavyweight championship of the world.

IRISH POSTAL SETTLEMENT.

London, September 29.
The Irish postal settlement for 1922 has been agreed upon by the British and Irish Governments.

LAST NIGHT'S SENSATION.

Detective Murdered; Two Men Shot.

About eight o'clock last night seven armed men visited 26 Wing Wo Street, an emigrants' boarding house. They entered and bound the inmates and during the half-hour they remained on the premises collected all the money and valuables, including gold dollars and foreign coin to the value of some $5,000.

As the robbers were leaving they were observed by Detective Sergeant Sin Chuen, who, it will be remembered, was highly praised for his services in the famous Wo Ping Theatre case. Although single-handed, the detective tackled the gang, but they were too many for him. One of the armed men pointed his revolver at the officer and fired, hitting him in the chest. The gang then made off, chased by a number of police and others who by this time had been attracted to the scene. The unfortunate detective was placed in the ambulance and taken to the Government Civil Hospital, but the wound was serious and the gallant man expired shortly after his admittance.

The chase was an exciting one, and firearms were used frequently. Two men, one of whom was found a revolver, were arrested. They were escorted to the Central Police Station by a party of constables with drawn revolvers, and on the way an accident happened. In Frank Street the weapon of one of the party accidentally went off and shot two brothers, one of whom is not expected to live.

The police visited the boarding house where the robbery occurred and it is understood that three diggers were found.

The Official Report.

A report was this morning made to the police by the accountant of the Wong Tak Loong, import and export firm, occupying the first and second floors of No. 26 Wing Wo Street, to the effect that the gang entered the premises at 7.30, being armed with daggers and revolvers which they used to intimidate the twelve folks of the shop. After being bound and gagged, the victims were all bundled into one room whilst the process of ransacking the floors took place. From a safe the robbers took a sum of $4,175, some American money and a gold watch and chain, the value of which is unknown.

After a few minutes, the sound of a whistle was heard and there ensued a panic amongst the robbers, who rushed into the street in a body. The Chinese detective, Sin Chuen, who was the first to arrive on the scene in response to the summons, endeavoured to tackle one of the gang, but was shot in the chest from the effects of which he died shortly after admittance into the Government Civil Hospital.

Two men were arrested in the subsequent alarm, and were put up for identification at a parade in the Central Police Station this morning.

Whilst the suspected men were being taken along, Frank Street under an escort with drawn revolvers, one of the Chinese constables, C. C. 23, who was apparently in a nervous condition, accidentally discharged a shot which wounded two brothers who came out of No. 6 to watch the procession pass.

CANTON'S FINANCES.

Reported Conclusion of Foreign Loan.

Our Canton Correspondent writes that the loan of $10,000,000 to the Government of the Republic of China, which was reported to have been concluded, has now been officially confirmed.

THE BANK MYSTERY.

Not a Book-keeping Error.

The disappearance of $200,000 from the International Banking Corporation still remains shrouded in mystery. A Telegraph reporter, who called on the acting manager this morning to inquire if anything had been discovered which would throw some light on the affair was informed that the Bank are still in the dark as to what has happened to the money.

It has been ascertained that the loss is not through any book-keeping error, the preman was told, and there has been no tampering with either the vaults or the safes. Beyond those facts practically nothing appears to be known.

ARMS TRAFFIC.

Full Sentence Imposed.

When charged to-day with being in possession of two revolvers, two rifle muzzles, and 630 rounds of ammunition, a Chinese, pleaded that he was merely hired to carry the arms for another person. He explained that the reason why he ran away from the police was because he was in a hurry to catch up with his employer in order to get the latter to acknowledge his possession of the arms. Inspector Fallon, who prosecuted, pointed out that this trafficking in arms on the streets of Hongkong was a crime, and that the prisoner was liable to a full sentence of a year's hard labour on the prisoners.

V.R.C. SPORTS.

Second Day's Events.

The attendance on the second day of the annual sports carnival of the Victoria Recreation Club left much to be desired, for it was the poorest on record. However, there were enough competitors to make every race interesting, the 220 yards Championship being the outstanding feature of the day. In the absence of Johnstone, Lyon was favourite, though with rivals of the capability of Laing and Jack, the finish was a hot one. From the start Lyon set the pace, and in the fourth length the tussle between Laing and Jack for second place became very keen. Jack had enjoyed the advantage, but in this length Laing made up and was ahead of the former by a mere matter of feet. The race then resolved itself principally into a tussle between these two for second place, Laing eventually beating Jack by a few seconds. Lyon's win yesterday makes his third championship success in this year's sports. Time: D. Lyon, 2 mins. 40 secs.; D. Laing, 2 mins. 47 secs.

Following are the results of the other events:—
Four lengths handicap (members)—1, S. A. Mearl, 2, J. Stewart. Time 1 min. 19 secs.

CIVIL SERVICE C.C.

Annual Meeting.

There was a large attendance of members of the Hongkong Civil Service Cricket Club at the Club house yesterday, the occasion being the annual meeting. In addition to the President (Hon. Mr. Claud Severn), who occupied the chair, amongst other prominent members of the Club present were Messrs. J. R. Wood, E. W. Hamilton, G. R. Sayer, J. A. E. Bullock and A. E. Wood.

The election of officers resulted as follows:
Hon. Secretary, Mr. Colin Sara; Hon. Treasurer, Mr. G. H. Haskett. Committee.—The following were elected out of 23 candidates: Messrs. J. A. E. Bullock, S. E. Alderman, J. W. Deakin, W. Kegan, H. W. Sandford, C. J. Tacchi and R. S. Verdette. Captain, Mr. A. E. Wood; Vice-Captain, Mr. G. R. Sayer; Captain, "A" team, Mr. R. J. T. Taylor. Hon. Steward, Mr. R. J. T. Taylor. Lawn Bowls representative, Mr. C. F. Pathejohns; Tennis representative, Mr. K. W. Lane; Cricket representative, Mr. F. J. Ling; Green Banner, Mr. Colin Sara; Auditors, Messrs. W. Prickett and C. James.

Annual Report.
The following extracts are from the Committee's report for 1932-1933, which, together with the statement of accounts and balance sheet, was adopted, on the motion of Mr. Severn, seconded by Mr. Vergette. Great care has been necessary in respect to the various playing pitches, but these are at present in very fair condition, and with proper usage should give satisfaction through the coming year. Fifty-eight new members joined during the year and 25 resigned. The membership is now 275 including 40 subscribing members.

Cricket Report—First eleven.—The first eleven won 8 matches at 7 and drew 1, a fair record. Unfortunately three of our losses were in the League and this sufficed to lose us the shield. We cannot, however, complain, as though we lost on each occasion by a narrow margin some of our victories were also very narrowly won; and we certainly had a number of exciting Saturday afternoons. Our bowling, in spite of the retirement of Mr. Bird, was still exceptionally strong; but the batting not so consistent as last year.

Uncompleted Tournaments.
Tennis Representative's Report. We finished a little better in the Tennis Leagues for 1932, (in 1931, "A" lost every match, "B" only winning one). This season "A" and "B" have both won two matches each in their respective leagues. Their positions in the League is far from giving a correct idea of their abilities. We are in that unfortunate position again of not being able to get a full team out. As a matter of fact we never had a full team out during the whole season. I am sure if this difficulty can be overcome the Club would take the honours.

I am extremely sorry to hear in report that the tournaments are not yet completed. A silver cup has been very kindly promised by Mr. K. W. Lane and a Ladies' Singles Handicap suggested to be played for same. I much regret not being in a position to arrange time and date to play this off, owing to the ground still being required for the uncompleted tournament.

Games were commenced in May by certain members, and four months later not one of the events was completed. Surely the weather can be no excuse. From April to the second week in July the weather was perfectly dry. It seems that certain members join these tournaments who have not the slightest intention of letting any engagement which may turn up in the meantime. It is not necessary for me to point out this is not playing the game; the other fellow may have inconvenienced himself to keep the date; it would greatly assist whoever is running the tournament if they did not join at all. Actions of this kind make members who are interested lose their interest and they fight shy of entering tournaments afterwards. Not only that; it does not improve the game itself in any way, and is the means of a sub-committee making hard and fast rules which in my opinion the game could do without. It is simply useless trying to run tournaments without the full co-operation of the members themselves.

Lawn Bowls.

The following is the report of the Bowls Representative.—We are again in a low position in the League table this year, but our general play was not so bad as our position indicates, owing to the fact that we lost three matches by the narrow margins of 1, 2 and 4 points. We have lost several of the old players, and were never able to put a really strong team in the field. Six club competitions are now being played, for which we have, I think, a record number of entries, showing a great keenness among the newer members of the bowling section of the Club. This looks very promising, and we hope to take a higher place in the League next year.

In moving the adoption of the report and balance sheet, Mr. Severn stated that the record for Cricket during the past year was fair, the members having had a run of bad luck on several occasions. They had shown themselves to be very keen, however, and the fielding had shown a marked improvement over last year. He hoped that during the forthcoming season there would be some new talent and that promising members would be given a trial. He was glad that the Committee had decided to place on record the numbers of catches held, as he considered that such was an inducement to the players.

Regarding the report of the Tennis representative, he considered that it was somewhat of a strenuous indictment and he hoped that the defaulting members referred to would take it to heart. Members who entered for tournaments and did not take part in them should have their names struck off. He considered that the Committee had been too lenient with them.

Regarding Bowls, though he himself was not closely interested in the game, he hoped that the Club would do better next year. The Club was now one year nearer to the time when it would have to build on a new site. He was grateful to the officials of the Club and especially to Messrs. Sara and Vergette.

Following upon the elections of officers, various amendments to the rules were adopted. It was decided that members who defaulted in their payments should have not only their names posted, but also the amounts owing would be recorded.

It was also decided that only the proposer of a defaulting member should be responsible for certain financial obligations incurred by the latter.

Votes of thanks were accorded to the auditors, who were re-elected, and the retiring Honorary Treasurer. The Chairman also congratulated the Club on being able to retain the services of Mr. Sara as Secretary.

The meeting concluded with a vote of thanks to Mr. Severn, moved by Mr. J. R. Wood.

NEED OF A CHINESE
LABOUR LAW.Making the Workers Contented.

Although it may be conceded that it is a result of the world tendency that labour strikes in this country have become more frequent, yet the principal cause of labour unrest must be in the increasing difficulty of making a livelihood, remarks the "Sincan-pao." The intelligentsia formula, but a very small part of our people, the largest part being the labouring class of various denominations. If we want to secure happiness for the majority of our people, we must devise proper ways and means to safeguard the interests of our labourers.

Our Government would do well to heed the demand of strikers for relief from their present condition, and should always refrain from adopting any oppressive measures in the belief that the character of strikes is more political than economical. If all the aspects of the labour question are properly and carefully considered and a labour law is equitably drafted and promulgated, not only may labour be contented ever afterwards, but other classes may profit thereby as well.

ROADS IN CHINA.

A few years ago the National Road Construction Association, whose activities have become familiar under the title of the Good Roads Movement, was founded at Shanghai, and the step was regarded as a happy sign of a more progressive spirit on the part of at least a section of Chinese. Dr. C. T. Wang, the well-known reformer, was the chairman, and Westerners as well as Chinese were members of the Association. The main purpose of the institution was to educate public opinion in China in the importance and value of road construction up to a point which would constrain local, provincial, and national authorities to undertake this vital but neglected work. The scheme was splendid in its purpose and bold in conception. It is a trite maxim that a country progresses as fast or as slowly as its road-building. To-day China's roads are probably easily the worst of any country with claims to civilisation. It would be more correct to speak of the absence of roads, a narrow track usually sufficing, where even that convenience exists. Such was not always the case. Under the Great Khan, China exhibited remarkable development in the work which the Romans understood so well.

Considering the tremendous extent of the task, geographical and financial, to say nothing of the hindrance caused by the military and political commotion, the Association showed admirable perseverance, and tangible tokens of its spirit are to be met within the shape of modern roads. Of course, only the fringe of the problem has been touched; but the fact of a start having been made was an encouraging indication. A comparison of the Band and the malcos at Canton with the labyrinth of alleys behind them gives an idea of what the change means in the life of a country.

Unhappily, a change for the worse has to be recorded. Dr. Wang was called away from Shanghai in connection with the retrocession of Tsingtao, and the reactionary element has gained the upper hand in the councils of the Association. "Foreign" members are looked at askance (except, apparently, in so far as they are likely to be particularly useful), and it is not surprising if the interest of these members has grown lukewarm. After a period of quiescence, the Association met again the other day, when it could find nothing better to do than to recommend, in the name of China's sovereign rights, the construction of a road to fence-in the Model Settlement. In this wise an enterprise started with a national purpose is reduced to petty parochialism. The influx of Chinese into the International area (for Shanghai is a "settlement," not an exclusive "concession" like Shameen) has necessitated Western residents moving into suburban districts. In Shanghai, as in Hongkong, the Chinese are numbered by the hundred thousand where Europeans are numbered by the thousand. Where Europeans have gone they have set the native authorities a fine example in the work which the Association professes to have it heart; yet that body would restrict these necessary developments on a technical plea. Such a proceeding has a dog-in-the-manger suggestion.

Chan's Apologia.

General Chan King-ming's apology, a summary of which we published yesterday, is such a document as we would expect from such a man, who, we are convinced, has acted during the recent troubles in Canton with the sole object of serving his province and his country, having no ulterior motives in view. Necessarily, he had to explain his break with Sun Yat-sen, but he has done so in sober terms and has not resorted to undignified abuse. His opposition to the Northern Expedition was based on a belief that he considered it both inopportune and impracticable. Events have now shown that Sun embarked on the venture without counting the cost or considering the practical difficulties to be overcome. That is a characteristic of his—failure to take account of practicalities. Chan's opposition was construed as a determination to obstruct the venture, and thus it came about that Sun returned to Canton from his headquarters at Kweilin. There can now be but little doubt that Sun's move was not dictated so much by a desire to shift his headquarters from Kweilin to Shuewan as to get control of affairs in Canton. Chan realised that in time, and he says that it was in order to avoid bloodshed and destruction that he resigned his posts and returned to Waichow. We are prepared to believe that that was his aim in dropping into the background when Sun appeared in Canton.

It is clear from the concluding part of General Chan's manifesto that he has very definite aims in view for the future. He intends to carry out his scheme of separating military and civil affairs and to reform and discipline his troops. Already he has begun the task. As to general political questions, he is sufficiently a Constitutionalist to subscribe to the view that these should be handled by Parliament. His own attitude of non-interference is shown in the remark that "I sincerely hope we military men will not interfere with the same." All he wants to see is the Constitution completed and renunciation between North and South carried out. That done, he is prepared to hand over his military power to the Central Government and retire into private life. His ideals and his means of putting them into practice are good. It is his policy, so long as North and South are at variance, to do what good he can in at least one Province; and then, when the differences have been composed, to leave to others the task of carrying on. The manifesto breathes the spirit of a patriot who puts his country first and himself last. We hope that affairs at Canton will remain undisturbed for a sufficiently lengthy period to enable him to carry out the plans he has in mind.

Our contemporary in the South China capital, the Canton Times, has received a communication from the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs in that city denying that the terms demanded of the Macao Government are as stated by that journal. We reviewed these conditions yesterday, and indicated probable

It is well to learn that, as may be inferred from the Foreign Commissioner's letter, the terms proposed by Canton are not so stringent as was indicated. Now that the moribund enterprise has had time to modify itself, a settlement ought to be practicable. Meanwhile we await with interest an official statement of the conditions.

Between Ourselves

By Robt. MacWhitter.

If a body were to judge correctly from the papers that come to hand about this time o' year, it's a perfect blessing that Providence invented Scotland. No, mind ye, for the folk who live in the Land of Oakes but for those who go there on an occasional visit. The reason is very plain, according to a writer in the Bygones. It is because of the simple life indulged in by the inhabitants of this primitive land. All that's needed to the wardrobe line is a suit of homespun and it'll last you as long as your skin. So long as the foundation of a suit was laid in a crofter's cottage, fashion in Scotland apparently can be scoffed at. Oay kind of old clothes is good enough to wear while on a holiday North of the Tweed. It would seem that it's personality that counts there. By the same token it would also appear that it's piffle that counts in London.

The Yearly Invasion.

One leading London newspaper is also puzzled as to what Scotland thought of her last installment of visitors. But it needna' have fashed it's heid! Scotland is a land where endurance is very great, and where, when necessary, proof is not wanting that language is given to conceal thought. The yearly English grouse-killing invasion touches the old country very lightly, for the Saxon tourist has as a rule, a fairly well-defined track. So the average Scot is no' compelled to study the idiosyncrasies of his visitor except through the medium of the picture papers. Outside ghillies and porters then, the annual migration scarcely makes contact and so no new and stimulating mental processes are set in motion. We certainly do not worry about what the English visitor may think of us. He is but a poor specimen who does not feel the truth of more than he knows or can explain to enquirers. Just as the invasion of a country never did, to any great extent, affect its national life so the yearly rush to the North leaves us independent and individual—a consumption no' to be regretted.

A Ricketty Entente.

Once upon a time there were two dogs that were forever fighting one another. At last, tired of warfare, they sat down to consider the situation and after a long discussion they agreed that friendship was more pleasant and profitable. Henceforth they would live in amity and share and share alike in the good things of life. They had just reached this conclusion and were contemplating each other w' benevolent eyes when an adjacent window opened and the guidwife threw out a bone and before ye could say knife the two dogs were at each other's throats.

Seems to me that this is something very like the present state of things in Europe. The nations of Europe have known the utility and ruin of war; they decided to try peace. They discuss; they agree; then up goes the bally window, out comes the bone and friendship is forgotten in the struggle for self-interest. The last war was the war which was to end war. We put up monuments on both sides of the Channel at the unveiling of which there is much handshaking and kissing on both cheeks; we visit our dead on foreign soil and we and they make ourselves dry speechifying; we adopt villages and towns and swap picture postcards and, and, I say, it only needs a lying four line paragraph in a newspaper and the Entente, like MacPherson's blackwood sofa, is nearly in bits.

Mainly Historical.

It's something like a year ago, when the Greeks were holding the Afunkarakissar—Kutabla—Ekekehebr—Biledjik line and the Turks were supposed to be cut off and thinking about selling their scimitars and auctioning off their harems, that I advised you ex-raisin raisers no' to gut their fish until they got them. But I've think they took my notice of what I said. No's education. No, mind ye, that I bit. I suppose they were over Trade Unionism can be good for swapping lies to pay our head, the arts—and teaching is a Then Reuter lost sight of them great art—but if such a body and in the meantime, France, could help to rid us of our without consulting her associates, amateur and artless unchristianised made a post of the Kemalist teachers it would do the com-Turks to be followed later by Italy conducting private negotiations w' the Constantinople or but what's the use? That there and-Kemalist Turks. Then Mr. Lloyd George gets up on his hind educational "scimitars" and legs and hands the Greeks.

bonquet, tells them what a fellows they are, and what a fine thing freedom is, especially for the Straits! Somewhere in the middle of reel seven, Kemal Pasha produces an ace from behind his left ear and before the Greeks recover from the effect of their recent victories, they get a swift kick-up from behind and beat it for home, wishing to goodness they had stayed on at the current farm instead of extending their geographical knowledge in a strange land. Symma, then proceeds to get it in the neck and tons of perfectly good raisins will never see pudding, no' to speak of the houses that are burnt and the millions and millions of good pounds sterling that have gone West. Whereupon French papers forget all about 1914. Mons, the long years of mutual fighting, the Allied War Memorials, the League of Nations and hail Turkish victories as tantamount to British defeat! Suffring Mother, it's enough to make ye weep. The next item on the programme is when our Cabinetiers spend the tocsin and the Dominions are supposed to fall over themselves in their hurry to Gallipoli again.

I Ask You.

Ay, I ask you. What of the League of Nations? What of disarmament? What of the limitation of armament? What of the war to end war? I ask you. For what? To help the Greeks who dissolved a democratic government under President Venizelos and called the autocratic German sympathiser Constantine from exile to rule them? Or to punish the Turk? Can you tell me why he has a reputation for ill-treatment of the weak and the helpless when all British soldiers who have fought against him generally maintain that he is a fair and honourable opponent in a fight. Punishing the Turk is like finding MacPherson in the house on a lodge meeting night. It would seem next to impossible, for by a tragic irony which repeats itself regularly in history, the Turk has learned to regard the best-laid schemes of the Western Powers w' cynical unconcern. So long has he profited by their jealousies and miscalculations and indecisions that by this time he has come to have a strong belief in his own good luck. When anybody or any nation once gets it into its head that Providence is on its side, it's no' easily frightened, mind I'm telling ye. But that doesn't prevent the nations, in the name of humanity, from every now and again having another try at the war game as a solution of this racial problem. Who in the name of Lippary, no' to mention Piccadilly and Leicester Square, wants to win war any way when the winning of them means losing in the hinderead?

The Uncertificated.

Telling our Hongkong educational Pooh Babs anything is like giving a duck a bath—a mere waste of breath. I came across this bit in The New Age, the other day which should, however, interest all parents and ratepayers.

How naive is the thing which is at present being called economy was shown recently by the London County Council when it decided that a hundred unqualified girls should be drafted into the infant departments of the London Schools, this being considered the easiest branch of education.

The London Teachers' Association replied w' great sense and moderation in this wise:—Work done in the infants department is the foundation of educational work in the senior departments. To trust that foundation to unskilled and unqualified persons is to endanger the whole super-structure and is false economy. It is worse, it is the decision of people who have neither sense nor imagination.

I've often wondered if a branch of the National Union of Teachers out here wouldn't do a lot o' good them. In the matter of our children's education. No, mind ye, that I bit. I suppose they were over Trade Unionism can be good for swapping lies to pay our head, the arts—and teaching is a Then Reuter lost sight of them great art—but if such a body and in the meantime, France, could help to rid us of our without consulting her associates, amateur and artless unchristianised made a post of the Kemalist teachers it would do the com-Turks to be followed later by Italy conducting private negotiations w' the Constantinople or but what's the use? That there and-Kemalist Turks. Then Mr. Lloyd George gets up on his hind educational "scimitars" and legs and hands the Greeks.

granted on every hand: that a change may take place when our Educational Cadet retires is the hope of all who have this matter at heart; that we place like Wei-hai-wei and Chefoo can give us a long start is a reproach; that we have still to send our children home, is a disgrace.

Scrap The Lot.

Teaching is a business which has to be learned and no amount of ignorant and ill-trained enthusiasm can take its place. One of our uncriticized the other day remarked that the salary accrued helped to pay her bridge debts! What an ideal with which to approach such a sacred and important duty. Scrap the lot, I say. A Colony which can boast of its magnificent harbour, stately university and all the rest, and at the same time suffer its children to be subjected to the ministrations of blackleg school teaching, has after all very little to be proud of. We get experts out to tell us how to improve our harbour; how to fight disease; how to plan our towns; how to reform ourselves generally. I ask you is it illogical to demand that we put the horse before the cart by doing likewise in the matter of educating the generation who will have to carry out these reforms? I ask you.

The News.

Joe, he keeps on yelping for something local in the way of comment. You man thinks I'm a newspaper. No, that newspapers know everything, mind ye. The other night, under the caption of "Chinese Politics" one of them gravely informed its readers in a telegram from Shanghai that "Chang Chun's conference has been broken off." I say knew that Chinese politics was in a pretty rotten state but when it becomes so gangrenous as all that I think it is high time some one was seeing about it. Further down the same page, the "China Mail" gravely intimates that an old friend of mine was married. Considering that only this week he celebrated his silver wedding, perhaps its readers might have been left to draw their own conclusion.

Talking about telephones, my congratulations are due to the Telephone Company for the clever manner in which they assisted the police in arresting the alleged intimidator of Mr. Ah Men. The latter is also to be praised for showing a courage so rarely apparent these days among his nationals. If all Chinese so menaced would only act as he did, the black-mailer and the intimidator would be hard put to it.

Beer Pumping.

Mr. Therson and I are no longer speaking terms this week. Last Tuesday he was to come round to our place for dinner. He did, but late, and stinking like a brewery. I fair hate to have anybody get a start on me like you. Mrs. MacPherson is now looking for the President of the Easme Club and if she doesn't get hold of him soon I wouldn't say but that she'll not be after sending in a letter of complaint to the Government regarding the reckless way in which our ex-horses stand treat in the middle of the day. It's a matter which the Easmeites might well consider at their next annual meeting, for we can't have Scotsmen being made free w' like that. In view of this complaint, and others, I would ask them to give serious consideration to the suggestion that beer-pumping be not commenced until after tea on weekdays.

WATER POLO LEAGUE.

The match between H. G. A. and the Lusitano Recreation Club, postponed from August 31st, was played at the V. B. C. on Monday last and resulted in a win for the Club by a goal to nil.

The above match completes the League. The table now stands:

	P.	W.	L.	D.	For	Agst.	Pts.
V.B.C.	8	8	0	0	59	3	16
L.R.C.	8	5	3	0	22	20	10
U.A.C.	8	5	3	0	19	25	10
B.G.A.	8	2	6	0	17	28	4
King's	8	0	8	0	8	49	0

For the League champions, Buschert scored 30 goals, Watson 8, Jack 4, Stewart 4, Rasmussen 1, while McDade of the R. G. A. (2) and Perry of the King's scored the goals against.

A Glance at our Files.

(Sept. 25, Oct. 1, 1897.)

ST. ANDREW'S SOCIETY.

At the annual meeting of the St. Andrew's Society, the Hon. Mr. J. H. Stewart, Lockhart, presiding, said they had a membership now of over 200 and their balance of $3,000 was the largest in the history of the Society. They had not had many calls and the money had been satisfactorily expended in all cases. He believed every one was satisfied with the last ball, which had been a great success, but at the same time it was accompanied by a deficit. It seemed impossible to have a Scotch ball in Hongkong without a deficit. It appeared to be due to a want of enthusiasm on the members' part at the beginning.

NEW OFFICES.

Messrs. Butterfield & Swire's handsome new offices on the Praya looked quite bright to-day, no less than three new houseflags floating over the roof. There was the familiar China Navigation Company's flag, the monogram blue and white bunting of Alfred Holt & Co., and the blue and white bars of the Scottish Oriental line. Flying the old flags would have been putting old wine in new bottles. In any case the transfer of the B. & S. business to such a convenient locality will be appreciated by shipping and business people.

THE VOLUNTEER BAND.

The best efforts of some people remain unappreciated by the vulgar herd, and this appears to be the unhappy fate of the Volunteer band. On Jubilee Day in spite of the fact that "ye canna sit on the thistle," the Volunteers' pipers were placed ignominiously in the rear of the massed bands, while now that the Corps has seen the error of its ways to some extent, and has dropped the barbarous pipes in favour of the more civilised fife and drum, the band is told by an irate P.W.D. official to "stop that noise" until he has finished his work. It is now also said that the Scotch Police have actually been given orders to arrest the band on its next appearance on the public highway, and charge the musicians severally and collectively with creating a nuisance. Whether the rumoured order is the result of jealousy on account of the pipes being discarded or whether the P.W.D. authorities fear that the atmospheric vibrations caused by the shrill notes of the fife will damage the drains in the vicinity, we are unable to say, but, having stumbled upon the rumour, we drop the hint to our very own Volunteers to guard their new band with great solicitude, and, by the judicious use of scoots and a large advance guard on the next march, to preclude the possibility of the band falling into an ambush and being suddenly spirited away.

MR. BRUTTON'S ADMISSION.

In the Supreme Court, Mr. W. M. Goodman, Attorney-General, made an application on behalf of Mr. George Kingston Hall, Brutton, a solicitor of King's Court, to be approved, admitted, and enrolled as an attorney and proctor. He understood that the necessary papers—certificates and so forth—were with his Lordship. There were two affidavits, one by Mr. Brutton that he was duly admitted to practise as a solicitor in the Supreme Court of Judicature in England on the 14th August, 1891, and that he was the same person as that named in the certificate of admission. The other was by Mr. A. G. Wise, Puisne Judge, which stated that he was well acquainted with Mr. Brutton, and that in his opinion Mr. Brutton was a fit and proper person to be admitted and enrolled as a solicitor. His Lordship, Let Mr. Brutton be admitted and enrolled as an attorney in this Court. Mr. Brutton was, during the last four years, under Mr. W. V. Drummond in Shanghai, and came here on the 23rd instant to join the office of Mr. K. W. Mounsey.

OUR UNOFFICIALS.

The present Government is wholly wanting in debating power. It lacks criticism. It dreads discussion, and since the method of half-unofficial and half-official written communications to members out of Council had been exposed and put a stop to, it negotiates quietly with individual members and so arranges matters before hand that things pass in Council sub-silento. If discussion

DAY BY DAY.

Command Orders state:—It is pointed out that malaria is most prevalent during the month of October, November and December. O.C. Units are responsible for the avoidance of all mosquito breeding places in their areas and strict supervision must be maintained.

An incident with elements of a comedy was witnessed on the Praya yesterday. Apparently two men had an altercation over money matters and they were not satisfied with a mere exchange of adjectival terms. They came to blows and when a constable rushed up to the scene to separate them they both jumped into the water and continued the fight there, until fished out. One of the men was to-day fined $5. The other, who did not appear, had his bail exonerated.

HONGKONG IMPORTS.

The fortnightly Price Current and Market Report, published by the Hongkong General Chamber of Commerce, states:—

Cotton piece goods and fancy cotton goods.—A fair amount of business has been done during the interval in dyed and fancy goods. There is no improvement as regards greys and whites.

Cotton yarn.—Owing to the continued decline in price, dealers are confining their operations to only a few sales at a time for their immediate requirements, a reduction in the rates taking place on each occasion. During the interval prices have declined $4 per bale, and sales amounting to 1,500 bales, have been effected. Quotations are:—No. 10s $145/163 No. 12s $153/172 No. 16s $178/190 No. 20s $178/194 Arrivals 1,500. Shipments nil. Sales 1,500 bales. Unsold stock 17,000 bales. Bargains 5,000 bales.

Woolens.—Small sales of blankets and lastings are reported, but the market is very dull.

Raw Cottons.—There was no demand for Indian staple and the hundred bales which were in stock have been shipped to Japan. Quotations are nominal. Indian descriptions at $30/35. Chinese grade at $32/38.

Metals.—Business has been done in wire nails 1½-3 inch, at $8.20 to $8.25. 3-7 inch, at $7.60. There has also been a fair business booked in galvanized wire 18 to 22 gauge at $12.50, 13 to 17 gauge at $10. Bars have been placed at $4.55 to $4.70. Demand during the last fortnight has been distinctly better, but this is the season when dealers fill their requirements for the China New Year trade; it is to be expected. It is doubtful, whether the quantities booked come up to the average. Scrap material is quiet. Dealers are not willing to pay the prices at present asked. Glasgow horseshoes are on offer at about $3.30 to $3.40, and plate cuttings at about $3.60 without finding buyers interested. Tin plates are dull, locally held stocks being on offer at cheaper prices than replacing costs.

Flour market report.—Stock: About 500,000 sacks. Quotations:—American Patent, $3.75 per sack; American Straight, $2.50 per sack; American Cut off, $2.75 per sack; Shanghai Flour, $2.80 per sack; Australian No. 1, $2.85 per sack.

Sugar.—Market quiet.

Saltpetre.—Strong demand as fire-crackers' season approaching.

cannot be avoided, then the matter is dropped or referred home for orders so as to check all discussion. No. The unofficial members won't resign in a body. Two of them are capable of such a sacrifice. Three of them are wholly incapable of any act or idea, good, bad or indifferent, that could displease the powers that be. They are wholly selfish and devoid of public spirit. A member of a Hongkong firm, who happened to be also Director of the Hongkong Bank, was once questioned as to his attitude in certain matters, and was incautious enough to speak the truth "My rule is, myself first; my firm next; the H.K.B. last." Similarly, some of the alleged representatives of the people have a rule (though they don't confess it so boldly)—"Myself first, my firm next, and the devil take the taxpayers."

GAMBLING WITH THE DOLE.
Two men out of a number charged before the Durham County magistrates with gaming, admitted that they had been receiving the unemployment "dole" as well as Poor Law relief. The chairman said it was a disgrace that people should in this way waste money received from the Government for the upkeep of themselves and family. In future the magistrates thought that all similar cases should be taken under the Vagrancy Act so that offenders could be sent to prison for three months. Fines were imposed ranging from 22 to £5.

PESSIMISTIC TONE IN GERMANY.

The Reichsbank-Zeitung (German

State Labour Gazette) contains the following: The competition of German industry on the world market meets with more and more great and unsurmountable difficulties, thus making more narrow and unsafe the basis on which alone the German National Economy, which necessarily depends on the purchase abroad of raw material, might hope to retain a strong foothold to prevent a deeper immersion into exchange collapse. Foreign orders have considerably fallen off in April and May; the number of reports from West and South Germany of the successful p-ration of foreign competition into the domestic market is steadily growing. England, France, Belgium,

Switzerland and Holland have in many cases underbitten the German industry in the domestic market, not only in coal but also in iron, textile goods, glassware etc., and this at a time when the growing incapacitation of the purchasing power of wide classes of population already threatens the domestic consumption of the German industry. The former tension between the domestic and the foreign value of the market diminished rapidly in April and May—according to information from the State

Statistical Bureau concerning living expenses, the price index for food, lodging, heat, and light rose an additional 9 per cent.,

and the first signs of the lowering of the purchasing power of earnings make themselves apparent on the labour market, according to reports from local labour boards

a growing supply of female labour, particularly of married women, is taking place.

GERMAN MINISTER OF TRADE

DIFFICULTIES.

Mr. Severing, Home Secretary of Prussia recently visited

Stettin, where he delivered a speech to a gathering of Governors and Mayors of the province.

In the nearest time the industry will have to pass through the same difficult conditions as in 1917-1919. Even should the stabilization of the mark be achieved, we shall not be able for many years to come to compete in the world market. I have learned prophecy. will invent a in its possibil- terrifying, that consents to risk torture and death in order to inflict torture and death, will be appalled, and will renounce war for ever.

Thus Thomas Edison, the famous inventor, in an interview with the Paris Excelsior, does not think we have seen the end of war. Indeed, it is his opinion that the world is on the eve of wars more formidable than any which civilization has yet known.

"There exists no means of preventing a flotilla of aeroplanes from flying over London tomorrow and spreading among millions of inhabitants which would poison these in a relatively short time in a relatively short time 20 to 50 aeroplanes sufficient for this purpose. Edison does not think that aeroplanes will be used against war, although they will be used against peace."

At the same time, he says, "the surface of the world is covered by the destruction of submarines and aircraft. He considers it necessary now to find means of protection against under-sea craft, and not to wait for the next war."

A JAPANESE "LIVING" HANDBOOK.

The following interesting note is given by the North-China Herald and Peking:—His customers will be interested to learn that Mr. Murasato, the Japanese barber, who is well-known among the local foreigners, has been commissioned with the task of dressing the hair of H. H. President Li Yuan-hung. Mr. Murasato has been in Peking for more than 25 years, and is one of the few Japanese who are allowed to dress the hair of the Chinese Emperor.
